

Bev Morse: Most of my career has been in writing - public relations/advertising for nonprofits and political/social issues and candidates. Before my now semi-retirement, I was working for a local paper - such fun - news photo/journalism/profile stories - otherwise, mostly under my pen name - very political - threats to family, KKK, Neo-Nazis, etc; published some children's books, schooled at the New School, Queens College, B.U., Princeton, UCLA, and studied at art the Students League and Traphagen. Also taught Jewish ethics (the Pirkei Avot) and American history through music and dance.

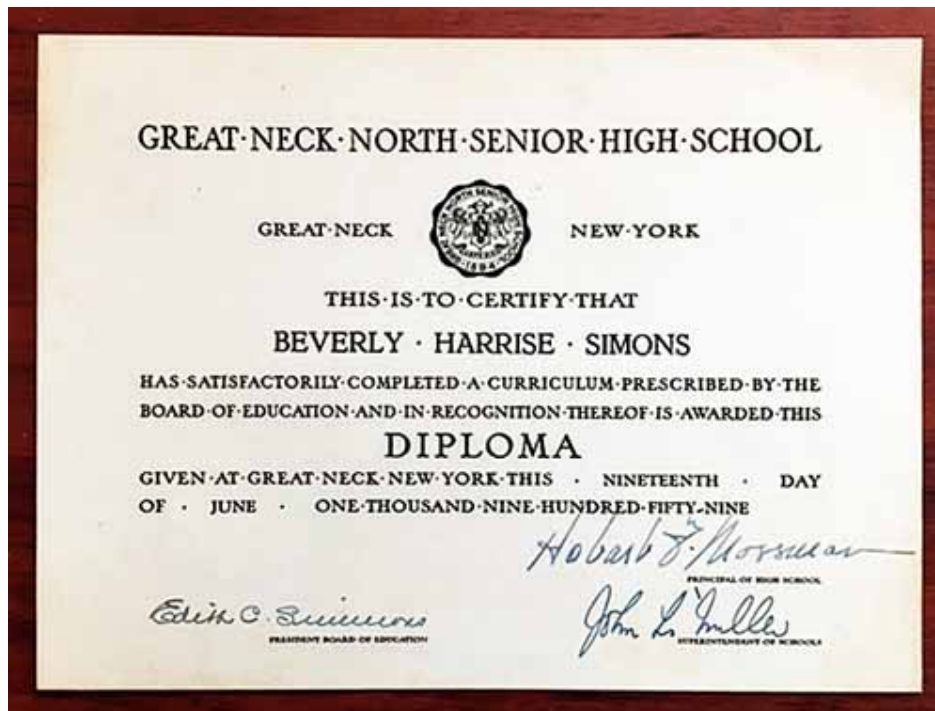

I just stumbled across my high school sweatshirt :)

Imagine! still has my pre-morse last name tag in it.

I should try it on but not sure if it will fall apart in the attempt . . .

. . .and my high school diploma. if i keep digging, i'll probably find my school ring.

I just found some sixth grade graduation luncheon pictures with Barbara Ehrlich, and remembered there are more with Jackie Steiner and Lynn Belkind.
